Because of the death of Fred Myron Colby, who acted as Superintendent, and Morton H. Treasurer.

This certifies that we have examined the accounts of the treasurer of Pine Grove Cemetery Association for the year ending

February 1, 1921, and find them correctly cast and with proper vouchers for all moneys paid out; also the bank books all show amounts on deposit as represented above.

OLD HOME WEEK ASSOCIATION

Believing that the citizens of Warner have come to appreciate the advantages of observing "Old Home Day" after two successful celebrations of this annual event, the Warner Old Home Week Association submits to its voters of the town a report of its past activities. The appropriations made by the town have enabled Warner to take a prominent place among those communities which on these occasions have extended a hand of welcome to those former residents who have moved away and who now have come to look forward to these annual reunions with anticipations of pleasure. While the benefits mainly are of such a nature that their value cannot be estimated in money, in many communities substantial and material advantages have resulted from holding these annual home welcomings. The observances held in the last two years have strengthened the ties between former Warner residents and their native town, and the judicious expenditure of the town's money for this purpose appears to meet with general approval.

In the present year the semi-centennial of the founding of Simonds Free High School will bring together many of the former residents and pupils of the school, and the combining of the celebration of that anniversary with the Old Home Day exercises would appear to be most advantageous. The formation of a permanent organization to which all citizens of the town are eligible has given the Old Home Day Association a semi-official standing, and it is the hope of the members that the town will support the movement in the future as it has in the past. A report of the financial operations of the Warner Old Home Day Association is appended herewith.

REPORT OF SCHOOL BOARD

REPORT OF SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

Members of School Board:

This report, the first made by your present Superintendent, covers the year ending August 31, 1920, and includes organization and attendance, instruction, extension activities and recommendations.

ORGANIZATION AND ATTENDANCE

The school year opened with an almost complete change in the staff of teachers. Miss Esther Burbank was the only regular teacher retained from the previous year. Miss Ruth A. Hoyt and Miss Mildred A. Wheeler, graduates of Keene, Class 1920, were employed before the present Superintendent assumed his duties. Miss Hoyt, whose normal school training had been preceded by a teaching experience of more than a year, was made principal of the village school.

Due largely to the required licensing and the contract system of employment of all teachers in the state, the only change in the staff during the year was the replacement of Miss Gladys W. Deal by Mrs. Esther E. Harris.

The following is a complete list of licensed teachers employed in the elementary schools.

† Supervisor of drawing.

A school year of thirty-six weeks was maintained in the village school and in the rural schools at Burnt Hill, Davisville and Lower Warner. On account of the removal to Bradford of all children of school age in the Burnap district this school was maintained for only thirty weeks. The resignation of Miss Carlton and the scarcity of teachers necessitated closing the Melvin school at the end of twenty-four weeks. The pupils were transported by train to the village school.

When we consider the extremely severe weather of last winter and the length of our transportation routes, the following table of attendance reflects credit upon the perseverance of our boys and girls and the co-operation of their parents.

INSTRUCTION

Particular attention has been given in the first four grades to the subject of reading. The ability to read readily and comprehensively is the key to promotion in these grades and is essential to the enjoyment and profit derived by the child from the work in all grades. In addition to more formal reading emphasis has been placed upon the silent reading of even a larger list of books and upon the ability of the child to accurately and correct language reproduce the content of the printed page. This serves the double purpose of facility in reading and of applied language training.

Standard scale tests in reading, prepared by Professor Adams of the Plymouth Normal School, were given in all eight grades both at the mid-year and again in June. The highest average rating in both speed and comprehension was made by the third and fourth grades.

In the fifth and sixth grades in addition to the study of American biography and inventions much time was given to the earlier racial history of the peoples contributing to modern civilization.

Arithmetic in all the grades was taught principally from the blackboard and without the use of textbooks or answer lists. For the moral value of the pupil's self reliance and accuracy simple proof methods of checking results were taught and insisted upon in the number work of the primary grades. The mathematical work in the eighth grade was organized as far as possible in keeping with the program of the junior high school. Much of the work was well motivated and productive of good results.

The Palmer method of penmanship was taught in the first four grades.

Formal instruction in spelling was given in all grades above the second.

Stress was placed on the practice of personal hygiene, a study of the relation of the individual to the health of the community and the menace of alcoholics, narcotics and many patent medicines.

Thrift and patriotism as civic duties of future citizens were interpreted daily through classroom exercises, current history, care an economy in the use of school materials, the purchase of Thrift and War Savings stamps an participation in the exercises of Memorial Day.

Without encroaching upon the report of the supervisor of drawing, I wish to make the following observation that the instruction in drawing and art work has been productive of two distinctly educational values, the habit of accurate observation from nature and the ability to reproduce in some degree with pencil or brush a purely mental picture.

EXTENSION ACTIVITIES

First among these I would mention the medical inspection of the pupils and teachers, made by Dr. Lloyd H. Cogswell. Fully as important as the inspection is the need of follow-up work. This is not included in the duties of the inspecting physician.

However, in several cases he has given time and materials to this work. In one case assistance was furnished by the State Board of Charities. During the long summer vacation the largest number of corrective treatments can usually be secured. It is during these summer months as well as during the school year that the services of a school nurse may be made of particular value to both the parents and children.

TABLE III

Report of Medical Inspection, 1919-1920

Number pupils examined	141

Defective vision	14 Not corrected.
Defective hearing	15

Pulmonary	1
Orthopedic defect	1
Hypertrophied tonsile	31
Adenoida	6
Unvaccinated	35

Since this report was submitted several cases of defective hearing have been much improved or entirely corrected by medical treatment. The removal of adenoids has been attended to in some instances. The matter of vaccination was again brought to the attention of the parents during the summer vacation; and the number of pupils unvaccinated was reduced to a minimum.

During the winter term an average of forty-two pupils in the village school and nineteen pupils at Davisville were daily supplied with milk or hot cocoa to supplement their cold lunch. We find that a mug of hot cocoa or malted milk served before school on extremely cold mornings to the boy or girl who had walked far or has been transported two miles or more in an open conveyance greatly increases the pupil's comfort and efficiency during the forenoon session.

At the end of the winter term the pupils and teachers of the village school gave the simple operetta, "Mother Goose Village." This represented the only musical instruction which the majority of the pupils received during the school year. The fact that practically every pupil from all grades participated was creative of a truer school spirit between pupils from different rooms.

Altho the purpose of the operetta was interpretive and not financial, the generous patronage of the community returned over thirty dollars in net proceeds. A portion of this sum was used in part payment for the school banners first carried by the pupils in the Memorial Day exercises. The remaining sum of about thirty dollars is deposited with the funds of the district to be expended for further extension activities.

RECOMMENDATIONS

Two definite recommendations are herewith presented: the one pertaining to the aesthetic training and social equipment of all our school children, namely the employment of a qualified supervisor of music to give instruction and supervision at least twice a month in all grades in both the village and rural schools; the other relating to the physical welfare of an increasing number of pupils and to a possible economic advantage to the district, namely, the purchase and operation by the district of a closed transportation vehicle so equipped that it may be either motor-driven or horse-drawn according to the season. Such a conveyance should have capacity for at least twelve pupils to accommodate not only transportation pupils but also children living at a considerable distance from the school and in proximity to a legally established route.

CONCLUSION

In conclusion, I wish to thank the citizens, teachers and school board for helpful support and loyal co-operation.

Respectfully submitted

GEORGE H. HARMON,

Superintendent of Schools.

Report of Superintendent

To the Prudential Committee:

This report covers the year ending August 31, 1920, and includes organization and attendance, graduating class, extension activities and recommendations. It is followed by the Headmaster's report covering the first half of the present school year.

Organization and Attendance

All vacancies in the staff of teachers had been filled before your present superintendent assumed his duties. Particular credit for the early selection of an excellent corps of assistant teachers is due to the former Headmaster, Florence T. Davis and to Esther E. Harris, chairman of the Prudential Committee.

Teachers, 1919-1920

Florence T. Davis (Headmaster), subjects, Commercial; credentials, permanent certificate in New Hampshire; special Training, Salem Normal, Worcester Normal, Pierce School of Philadelphia, one summer Simmons; previous experience, 14 years; salary, annual rate, $1,500.

Ruth W. Boardman, subjects, English, Latin; credentials, license; special training, graduate, Mt. Holyoke, 1919; salary, annual rate, $800.

Lois Rigby, subjects, Mathematics, Science; credentials, license; special training, graduate, Boston University, 1919; salary, annual rate, $800.

Mildred M. Wilder, subjects, Domestic Arts, French; credentials, permit; special training, two years Wheaton, two summers Simmons; previous experience, one year; salary, annual rate, $800.

The academic, commercial, domestic arts and general courses of study were offered. In the senior class all courses except the general were represented, the commercial and domestic arts having an equal number.

The pupils manifested throughout the year an increasing interest and spirit of responsibility for the maintenance and, if possible, improvement of the attendance record of the previous year. This resulted in an increase in the percent of attendance and a 50 per cent reduction in the number of tardinesses which is a credit to both teachers and pupils.

Attendance Statistics

Year 1918-1919—Total enrolment, Warner S. F. H. S., 58. Average membership, Warner S. F. H. S., 57. Percent of attendance, Warner S. F. H. S., 95; average of all high schools in state, 93. Number tardiness per pupil, Warner S. F. H. S., 1.2; average of all high schools in state, 2.0.

Graduating Class

The efficiency of the individual pupil in the school life is not always indicated by the high or low marks on a report card. Likewise the efficiency of a school is indicated not so much formal reports as it is by the ability of its graduates to contribute their share to the activities of the community. Out of the following class of ten pupils, graduated in June 70 per cent are either attending normal school or are engaged in teaching at salaries averaging over $600 each. The other 30 per cent are employed in commercial and other positions.

Academic Course—Doris H. Annis, attending Plymouth Normal; Dorcas J. Burdett, attending Framingham Normal.

Commercial Course—Ruth S. Cilley, clerical position, Warner; Helen M. Clough, teaching, Davisville; Franklin S. Farnum, employed, Warner; Frank W. Kirk, employed, Portsmouth.

Domestic Arts Course—Mabel F. Knight, teaching, Bradford; Mildred M. McDowell, attending Keene Normal; Vera H. Rogers, teaching, Warner; Helenette Sargent, teaching, Newbury.

Order of Graduating Exercises

Town Hall, June 18, 1920.

Extension Activities

Of particular pleasure and profit was the senior class trip to Boston to attend the annual meeting and banquet of the Simonds Free High School Association. Franklin Simonds Farnum was the representative from the school. Through the generous hospitality of the high school teachers entertainment was provided for the entire class.

The senior play, entitled "Katy Did," a delightful interpretation of the patriotic spirit of the period of the American Revolution was presented by the class in both Warner and Bradford.

Early in the spring the sophomore play, "Sally Lunn," was presented before a most appreciative audience.

The following program presented at the Junior Recital was a distinct credit to both the class and the instructors.

Recommendations

In making a survey of Warner's educational system in comparison with the systems in neighboring towns of the same size and similar environment I would recommend that careful consideration be given to the adoption and organization of a junior high school system. This would be with a view to restoring instruction in elementary agriculture and home economics. It would also enable the high school to accept tuition pupils from the seventh and eighth grades.

Conclusion

In conclusion I wish to thank the citizens, teachers and prudential committee for their loyal co-operation.

Respectfully submitted,

GEORGE H. HARMON,

Superintendent, Warner Union, No. 61.

Headmaster's Report

To the Prudential Committee:

Owing to the fact that little more than half of the school year has elapsed it is rather difficult at this time to render a high school report. There are, however, certain facts which are worthy of consideration. One matter in particular has appealed to me quite strongly and that is the question of enrollment. There are now 41 students in the school, three courses and 20 studies offered by three teachers. The same number of teachers could well take care of double the present enrollment providing no more studies were introduced. The increased cost of teaching this number would amount to practically nothing. In fact it would make a considerable better showing, for the cost per pupil for running the high school would be almost cut in half.

There have been many difficulties in the way of the teachers this year, and many obstacles to surmount. Each teacher has had a full schedule and in addition has done a number of things outside of the regular work required for teaching so many classes. Many novelties have been introduced to make the school work more interesting and attractive which called for increased work for the teachers. It would be well at this point to acknowledge the splendid spirit of Miss Williams and Miss Suttie. Although called upon to do much more than would ordinarily be required even when teaching so many classes, they have never failed to respond cheerfully, and have always had the interest of the school at heart no matter what additional effort this entailed. It has been their splendid spirit of co-operation that has made possible whatever we have done this year.

It has been our air insofar as was possible while still meeting the demands of the state program to give the students the information they most needed as future citizens of Warner. We have tried to teach with this in view, that our students should become good members of this community rather than be trained in such a way as to make it imperative for them to leave the community to seek the things for which they were trained. But pure information acquired and stored away for possible future use has been a secondary aim. We have felt a more pressing need in the cultivation of ideas and ideals. It has been our chief desire to teach our boys and girls how to think. We have sought constantly to place the emphasis on methods of learning rather than on facts learned. For this reason many pupils who have counted themselves excellent students because they were able to swallow a mass of information without assimilation have been disappointed with their grades. On the other hand those whose fund of stored and unrelated facts was smaller, but who showed insight and ability to reason have received correspondingly higher ranks.

One other aim in which we feel we have been at least partially successful is the development of self reliance and independence. Never has a teacher interfered in work which that teacher felt a pupil could do unaided. We have sought to withdraw all props leaving the pupils to rise by their own efforts. This does not mean that we have refused help in cases where it was evident it was needed, but wherever we have felt that a pupil was capable we have given that pupil the opportunity to exercise unaided. This plan has been followed more deliberately in school matters outside of the curriculum. In social and athletic life of the school the leadership has been given to the boys and girls themselves. The result has been a wholesome interest in such affairs.

Little more can be said at this time. When the year is finished detailed reports of all the work must be furnished to the State Department of Education, and at that time it will be possible to make a far better summary of our work. However, I have felt that many have not realized our aims and have not appreciated just what we were striving to do. It is my hope that this report will explain to many, things which they have questioned. There are numerous recommendations which I have to make among which are the introduction again of agriculture and home economics and a reduction of the work in the commercial course. Such projects need considerable elaboration and so must be left for some other occasion.

NEWTON W. LARKUM,
Headmaster.
